NIAGARA ESCARPMENT

Map of Niagara Escarpment Plan Area

History

- 1959 - A proposal to build the Trail was submitted to the Hamilton Naturalists' Club in 1959.
- 1960 - March - Federation of Ontario Naturalists was asked for its support.
- 1960 - Bruce Trail Committee formed in FON; first meeting Sept. 23rd
 - Norman Pearson, President
 - Ray Lowes, Secretary
 - Robert McLaren
 - Philip Gosling
- 1962 - Philip Gosling spent a year going up and down the trail, calling community meetings, talking to landowners and organizing local clubs.
- 1963 - Bruce Trail Association incorporated; Letters Patent issued March 13th, 1963.
- 1965 - First guidebook
- 1967 - Trail officially opened, June 10, 1967. Duke of Edinburgh's Gold Award Hike started August 8th, 1967.
- 1969 - Prof. Leonard Gertler's report "...a landmark report on protecting Ontario's Niagara Escarpment..."
- 1972 - Government Task Force on the Escarpment; BTA and Clubs make representations
- 1973 - Ontario Government policy on Niagara Escarpment June 4th 1973: "the Government of Ontario has stated publicly its intention of preserving the Bruce Trail by easement or outright purchase; that it is to be used for hiking, snowshoeing and cross country skiing only; that the government will discuss with this Association the best route for the Trail; and that the government will delegate to the Bruce Trail Association the maintenance of the Trail."
 - The BTA response: "While we welcome most of the stated objectives of the government policy, we are not sure about their policy re development and access to the Escarpment. We would have preferred a strong body with power similar to a Conservation Authority rather than the Niagara Escarpment Commission. Finally, we feel that a secure route for the Trail is not enough, that the Escarpment itself must be secured."

History

- 1973 - Niagara Escarpment Planning and Development Act
- 1975 June - Government implements Development Controls on the Niagara Escarpment
- 1977 – Toronto Club assumes responsibility for the Credit Valley Footpath
- 1980 - first Executive Director, Mary Munro
- 1980 - public hearings on NEC Plan; many BTA members make presentations; Toronto Club presented over 600 members' letters in support of the Plan.
- 1980 - Doug Robertson appointed as Executive Director; had served for almost seven years as an NEC planner and manager.
- 1980 - Government passes The Occupiers' Liability Act and the Trespass to Property Act, to protect landowners who give permission to others to use their property for recreational purposes.
- 1985 - Niagara Escarpment Plan approved; $2.5 MM/year for ten years committed for land acquisition.
- 1986 - Letters Patent of the BTA amended so that the BTA can own land
- 1987 - July 20th - Fathom Five National Park and Bruce Peninsula National Park
- 1990 - February - Niagara Escarpment designated a UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve
- 1994 - "The 1985 Niagara Escarpment Plan called for a 5-year review, which has taken from 1990 to 1994 to reach completion. The BTA and its role are recognized in the new Niagara Escarpment Plan, released...June 1994. This is an important step forward for our Association. The BTA is viewed as being progressive and effective by the public that know us; however too few of the public do know us and too many think that the Bruce Trail is funded and staffed by Government."
- 2000 – Halton Hills Chapter of the Toronto Club founded by Maureen Smith
- 2000 - Trillium Foundation agrees to donate funds for five years to: develop a fundraising program; train fundraisers; and marketing.
- 2005 - Beth Kümmling becomes BTA Executive Director.
- 2007 – name changed to Bruce Trail Conservancy
